Above, Frank Torciori and Gil Livingston present the "new look" in the very best Vogue manner; and to the right, Peggy Bruggess shows off her newest headgear. The parade included bands, fire engines, antique automobiles, jeeps, as well as several hundred boys and girls. Prizes were awarded for costumes by the judges and more than 1200 bottles of soda-pop were distributed.

Hallowe'en Parade Success, But Doesn't Stop 'Mischief'

20,000 Attend Fete; Police Kept Busy Colorful Costumes By 'Pranks' That Win Many Prizes Near Vandalism

Some 20,000 spectators crowded Ardmore streets last Thursday night for the first community Hallowe'en parade ever held in Ardmore.

Complete with bands, fire engines, antique automobiles, U. S. Marine jeeps and hundreds of gaily clad boys and girls, the parade wound its way through local streets for more than an hour, before coming to a halt in front of the judges' stand on Rittenhouse Place, near Cricket Terrace.

There prizes were awarded for costumes, and more than 1200 bottles of soda-pop were distributed. Prizes included footballs, sweaters, model airplanes, identification bracelets, movie cameras and other items.

Bryn Mawr "Indians"

One of the most outstanding groups in the parade was the Bryn Mawr Fire Company. More than 200 of its members and their sons turned out, dressed as Indians. They crowded onto two of the company's engines and marched along beside. Later they went to the Bryn Mawr Fire Hall for refreshments and further fun.

Other groups participating in the parade besides the children, were the Bala-Cynwyd and the Ardmore Junior High School bands, the Lily of the Valley band, the Narberth Fire Company Union Fire Company of Bala-Cynwyd and Merion Fire Company of Ardmore, several antique automobiles, two Marine Corps jeeps, and a few of the more ambitious parents.

Girl Singer Fined For Topsy Driving

Judge Advises 'AA' for Gladwyne Girl

Miss Katherine B. Grancell, 23, self-styled nightclub singer, was fined $100 and costs in Montgomery County Court at Norristown Tuesday, after pleading guilty to a charge of drunken driving.

Judge George C. Corson, in leveling the fine and releasing Miss Grancell, advised the Gladwyne girl to join Alcoholics Anonymous as soon as possible, and warned her that if she came back to his court she would be jailed. Miss Grancell promised to stop drinking.

She was arrested at 2:30 A. M. on October 24, after police said she tore through Ardmore on three wheels, mounting a curb, running over the front steps of the office of Justice of the Peace Walter B. Lowmes on Anderson Ave., and striking a corner of the Pennsylvania Railroad underpass.

One month before, she was freed by a Philadelphia magistrate, after hitting two persons within one block in a central Philadelphia street on July 29.

Daughter of an architect, the singer lives on Young's Ford Rd., Gladwyne.

College Students Plan Drive to Aid Starving Europe

Bryn Mawr Groups Will Canvas Community and Campus for Contributions

Students at Bryn Mawr College, concerned with the situation in Europe, will open a campaign to collect money, food and old clothes on Monday, November 10.

Student members of both the League and the Alliance will solicit on the campus and in the community. All clothing will be sent legs, concerned with the situation, and money will be turned over to the Main Line branch of CARE.

All the food which students collect will be packed for shipment, in the workshop on the campus. Most needed foods are: cake mix (any bread or cake or biscuit mix to which only water need be added); canned hams, dried fruits, to the American Friends Service ones like green peas, a cheeses dehydrated soups, preferably thick ones like green pea, and cheeses which will not spoil.

In addition, students are anxious to collect old yarn, even short fragments, which will be sent to English students to knit into afghans.

Students will open their solicitation on Monday afternoon in the area bounded by Morris Ave., Roberts Rd., Fishers Rd. and Gulph Rd. Thereafter, their schedule will be as follows:

Tuesday a. m.—Swamp to Wood-leave Rd., down Pennstone to Roberts Rd. Tuesday p. m.—down Montgomery Ave., from Merion Ave., up Penn St. to Fishers Rd., down Fisher's to and including Radnor. Also the block on which Shipley School is located.

Wednesday p. m.—down Montgomery from Merion to Roberts Rd., up Roberts to Wyndon Ave., up Wyndon to Aldred, up Aldred to Ashbridge, down Ashbridge to Roberts, then down Wyndon to and including Merion Ave.

Thursday a. m.—Lancaster Ave. from Bryn Mawr Ave. to Lee, and down Old Lancaster Ave. to the point where it meets Bryn Mawr Ave., thence up Bryn Mawr Ave. to Lancaster.

They had the double duty of handling the parade and chasing miscreant mischief makers at large throughout the township and Narberth Borough.

There were broken windows and street lights to contend with, removal of porch furniture, window soaping, doorbell ringing, and many other similar pranks.

Some of the more serious forms of vandalism included painting automobiles with varnish remover, painting stop signs black, painting out street names, letting the air out of automobile tires and barricading roads.

At one house in Narberth a group of children titled a can of green paint against the front door, rang the doorbell and ran off. When the door was opened the paint spilled all over a valuable front hall rug.

Miscreants tore down a fence at the West Manayunk home of William Carlin, township policeman, and took furniture from the porch of Detective Harry Gross, of Ardmore.

The most bothersome road block was on Youngsford Rd., Gladwyne, where a gang moved a large construction shack into the

Voters League to Sponsor World Trade Meeting

Film and Panel Discussion Stated For November 12

The Lower Merion Township League of Women Voters will meet Wednesday, November 12, at 3 P. M., in the auditorium of the Baldwin School. A sound film, "Round Trip—The United States in World Trade," will be featured, and a panel discussion led by Dr. Frances R. Fussell follows.

Mrs. Enos J. Derham, of Bryn Mawr, chairman of economic welfare, will preside.

A three-meeting course in local and county government is being planned by the League, for this month, and the international relations department will continue discussion of the Marshall Plan at its meeting next Thursday at 10:30 A. M., in the Ashbridge House, Rosemont. The plan was discussed at a meeting this morning, at the Merion home of Mrs. Philip F. Murray.

Invitations to the meeting on World Trade have been sent to club presidents, ministers and business organization officials.

Taking part in the discussion will be those persons favoring a high protective tariff, as well as those who uphold the Geneva International Trade Charter. The question to be emphasized is "What does world trade mean to your business and your purchasing power?"

Mrs. Thomas L. Kafie, of Merion, League president, said this week, "We hope that leaders of organizations will be interested in coming to discuss this vitally important question, and will bring their members. Later, if they wish to present the program to their groups, we will show them how to get the film, and will loan a member to lead a panel discussion."

Dr. Fussell, who leads the discussion, received her Ph.D. in social sciences at the University of Pennsylvania, and was instructor of political sciences at Swarthmore College for nine years. She served on the WPB during the war, and was secretary of the operating committee on combined Raw Materials Board from 1942 to 1945.

Mrs. Robert P. Wetherald, president of the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters, will instruct the local government course, which will be held at her home, Woodside Ave. and Rockland Rd., Narberth, from 10 A. M. until 11:30 A. M. on November 11. Mrs. Wetherald, formerly first vice-president of the Lower Merion League, recently took a similar course at the University of Pennsylvania.

The committee on equalizing opportunities will meet Wednesday, November 12, at 10 A. M., at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Daniel Miller, 306 Gatecombe Rd., Bryn Mawr.

Car Strikes Man, Jewels Scatter

Salesman Injured in Bryn Mawr Accident

A jewelry salesman was seriously injured, and five thousand dollars worth of his jewelry scattered across Lancaster Pike in an accident in Bryn Mawr at 5:20 P. M. Wednesday.

Harry Mackler, 44, of 6201 Carpenter st., Philadelphia, an itinerant jewelry salesman in business for himself, was crossing Lancaster Pike at Warner Ave., when he was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Mary Sherman, 60, of 204 Poplar Ave., Wayne.

Mrs. Sherman told Lower Merion patrolmen Felix Falcone and Thomas Laughlin that she was traveling west on Lancaster Pike, when she saw Mackler crossing the street. She blew her horn and swerved to avoid him, but he was stuck by her right fender. He fell and his traveling bag was knocked from his hand.

Lower Merion police took him to the Bryn Mawr Hospital, where he was treated for a fractured left arm, lacerations of the scalp, a possible fracture of the right ankle and possible fracture of the right hand. He was detained.

Police also recovered the handbag and the jewelry, an assortment of rings, watches, pins, bracelets and trinkets which had scattered across the pike and rolled around in the heavy rush-hour traffic.

'Dog-Gone'; and It Takes Hours Of Coaxing to Get Him Back!

The police, the dogcatchers and the SPCA combined forces Wednesday morning to retrieve a small dachshund which had become wedged into a conduit near the Wynnewood Station.

But it took the dog's owner, Mrs. Robert B. Heiserman, to coax the animal out of the pipe, after several hours of struggle.

"Otto," a long-haired dachshund, who came to the Heisermans seven years ago, when he was only three months old, left his home on Station Road, a stone's throw from the Wynnewood station, about 11 A. M. on Tuesday. Nobody heard from him until shortly after eight o'clock next morning, when Jerome C. Groskin, of 407 Miller Lane, stopped to buy a ticket and thought he heard an animal crying.

Lower Merion Township Leads In GOP Voting

Republicans Carry Narberth Districts by 6 to 1 Vote

A table showing the Lower Merion Township and Narberth Borough vote by precincts appears on page four.

Republicans maintained their traditional edge over the Democrats in Montgomery County on Tuesday and rolled up majorities of 43,000 and more.

They elected two judges and 12 major county officials, nine of them incumbents.

Lower Merion Township, with majorities for Republican candidates ranging from 8,000 upwards, led the other townships and boroughs of the County with its heavy G. O. P. vote.

Republicans carried Narberth Borough's three election districts by a six to one lead in Tuesday's election.

E. Arnold Forrest, G. O. P. candidate for district attorney, led the Republican ticket in the Borough over his Democratic opponent, Willington H. Rosenberry, Jr., 1699 to 273. Close behind Forrest with high votes were John A. Lafore, Jr., who was elected Montgomery County controller and Herbert H. Metz, elected county surveyor.

The Republican sweep took into county office two Main Line party leaders.

Fred C. Peters, Ardmore, was elected for his fourth term as county commissioner, and John A. Lafore, Jr., for his first term as county controller. Peters is Montgomery County's political leader and Lafore is chairman of the Lower Merion Township Republican Committee.

Lower Merion's 19 election districts gave Peters 10,849 votes and Lafore 10,842.

Republican candidates elected were Judge Harold C. Knight to Common Pleas Court and Judge J. Burnett Holland to Orphans' Court, each for ten-year terms; Peters and Foster C. Drive Started Against Stickers

Garage Men Join Fight to Prevent Illegal Inspection

Operators of official car inspection garages in Narberth and Bala-Cynwyd last week pledged their cooperation in a drive to end black market practices in car inspection.

At a meeting in J. H. Koegler's garage, 126 Montgomery Ave., Bala-Cynwyd, the garage operators agreed to notify State Police, as well as the owner, if a car, brought in for inspection, is rejected. In addition, other garages in the vicinity will be warned so that a sticker cannot be obtained legally elsewhere.

Should the motorist obtain a sticker elsewhere illegally, and be caught by police or the advisory committee, the number of the sticker will be turned into State Police. The garage involved will lose its State Inspection permit and the motorist will be fined.

The meeting of local garagemen was conducted by Private Hogan, of the Collegeville Barracks of the State Police, who pointed out that cars not fit for highway safety have been buying inspection stickers in the "black market" without inspection.

Officers of the committee elected were J. H. Koegler, chairman; Roger Burke, of Burke's Esso Station, Narberth, co-chairman; Adon Horsley, of Horsley's Automotive Service, Narberth, secretary; Ted Behr, of Sproul's Motors, Cynwyd, treasurer.

The committee will meet again November 17 at Koegler's

Volunteer Workers Will Attend Wed. Sessions

Smythe said this week: "We all know that an organization, to be successful, must be well informed and capable of solving the many new problems which constantly arise. That is why this institute was called. It will afford every member of the Chapter Red Cross family the opportunity of being brought up to date on National as well as Chapter plans."

"Because of the many important programs to be discussed, it is imperative that every volunteer make it a 'must' on his calendar." Smyth will speak on "Red Cross: Today and Tomorrow" at the morning session which will convene at 10.30 A. M. After a luncheon, for which there are 300 tickets available, there will be individual services conferences from 2 to 3.30 P. M.

Rachael Harriet Trump Is Wed To James Lee Owings in Pretty Ceremony in Cynwd Saturday

St. Asaph's Church, Bala-Cynwyd, was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday afternoon when Miss Rachel Harriet Trump, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crossdale Trump, of 505 Baird Rd., Merion, became the bride of James Lee Owings, son of Mr. Stanley Dorsey Owings, of Washington, and Mrs. Margaretta Lee Owings, of Hagerstown, Md. The Rev. Richard T. Lyford officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a period gown of white satin with an off-the-shoulder neckline. Her heirloom lace veil was held by a Mary Queen of Scots cap and she carried a shower bouquet of white chrysanthemums and snapdragons.

Miss Hebe Bulley, the maid of honor and only attendant for her cousin, wore a gown of rose beige faille and a matching horse-hair hat. Her bouquet was an arrangement of pink and rose chrysanthemums.

Robert Joseph Coyle, 3rd, uncle of the bridegroom was the best man and John Nathaniel Marshall and J. William White, 2nd, were the ushers.

The bride's mother was attired in floor-length gown of pastel turquoise with fuschia accessories. With this she wore a feather hat of fuschia and a corsage of fuschia colored roses.

The mother of the groom wore a full-length black gown and an antique pearl pin and earrings. Her corsage was of gardenias.

A reception for the immediate families at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. Upon their return from their honeymoon Mr. Owings and his bride will reside at the home of

Pro Game vs. College Ball

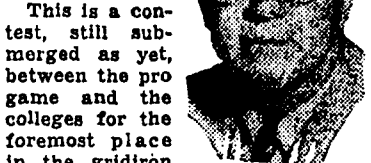

The uproar caused by the Rev. Robert J. Gannon's remarks on Fordham football should have died down by now and I have no intention of reviving it. Suffice to repeat that his expressed intention to estabish what is known as "the big-time" and to approach something nearer amateurism seemed eminently sound. It was amazing so many took issue with him.

What I saw in Father Gannon's remarks was one more step toward a squall that I fully expect to see strike in full force some day. It may take years, but I expect to see it.

This is a contest, submerged as yet, between the pro game and the colleges for the foremost place in the gridiron sun. We have heard the violent arguments as to which plays the better game, but it is not that to which I refer.

I am thinking of the relation of the two games to one another, which so far has been fairly harmonious. But there are signs of discord; lately I have heard commentators speak of college football as "the minor league" to the pros.

This is probably intended more as a boost to the pros than a slur on the colleges, but its authors are doing the pros no service.

REMARK ANNOYS COLLEGE COACHES
I have heard some college coaches on the subject, and it is one on which they speak forcefully. However, what they think about it may not have a great deal of effect. But if the college presidents begin to pay attention, something will happen.

Already youngsters have been so imprudent as to mention prospective pro connections while they are still playing college ball, which lends weight to the "minor league" claim. Enough of this, and the aroma will eventually penetrate into that secluded sanctum from which the policies and programs of the halls of education are administered.

If once these savants conclude that their tax-free fields are being used as a spawning ground for muscle men, I foresee a quiet tightening of lips. I can picture a request for the code which was drawn up during the annual meeting of the collegiate officials, which so far has been intended to apply only to the other fellow, and words somewhat as follows:

"Here, now, it's about time we really put this thing into effect. Miss Hathaway, have Dr. Gmilette's weight committee scrutinize our athletic rosters and tell him this agreement is to be followed to the letter, on toto. No more winking halfway measures. And let's have certain representative subjects every student is required to pass. I don't care who is dropped as a result."

Good gosh, that would result in college teams made up of students and the pros would have no dispute as to which would be the better. That is, for the two or three seasons until they went out of business for lack of highly ballyhooed rookies.

The Sally Peck Guild of the Ardmore Baptist Church will have a roller skating party and social meeting at the Y Friday evening. Mrs. Dorothy Kayser, of Upper Darby, is advisor, and Marcia Browne, of Merion, is president.

Election of Cadet and Junior officers will be held next week. The boys themselves will govern the program and will make and carry out the rules and regulations in the clubs.

Haverford Plays Hamilton After Wesleyan Loss

Haverford College, although displaying a vast improvement, proved unable to halt a highly-touted Wesleyan University football team and bowed, 25-15, Saturday at the Main Line Field.

The triumph was Wesleyan's 12th straight and the 16th game in which the Middletown (Conn.) team has escaped defeat. Wesleyan's last loss was suffered in 1942 at the hands of Haverford. The Cardinals didn't field a football team in 1943 and '44.

Haverford will attempt to regain the victory path this Saturday, playing Hamilton at Clinton, N. Y. Haverford, spotting Wesleyan a 25-0 lead in the first two periods, roared back to tally 15 points within four minutes late in the game. The Hornets' sudden assault and the invaders' rocking and reeling back on their heels, but the early margin proved too much to overcome.

Charles (Chuck) Boteler, Haverford halfback and holder from the 1942 title team, accounted for the locals' first touchdown in the fourth period, plunging over from the two to a 68-yard march.

On the subsequent kickoff, Bill Nelson, Wesleyan substitute, fumbled the kickoff in the end zone and was smothered by a host of Haverford tacklers for a safety. Then, when Wesleyan booted Ted Toed scampers 65 swift yards to another touchdown. The game went added the extra point as Haverford fans howled deliciously.

Episcopal Wins Over Haverford

Bob Stelert, former Haverford High football star, powered Episcopal Academy gridirers to a 13-0 decision over Haverford School in an "Interacademic League" game at the Main Line Field, Saturday. Episcopal clinched at least a tie for the title.

Stelert spearheaded a march from Haverford's 48 in the second period, with Jack Kinkaid going the final 21 in the same session, Ken Smith sprinted 70 yards to tally Episcopal's second six-pointer.

It was Episcopal's 12th victory over Haverford since 1928. Episcopal Cable.....L.E. Haverford Wright.....L.T. Chastaney Vasserman.....L.G. Tucker Fall.....C.C. Young Flanagan.....R.G. SPORTS CENE

By JACK FORD

Haverford High, like Lansdowne before it, and which is marked for a miserable, thoroughly unenjoyable football season this year. Such seasons seem to run in cycles. The Fords were at the top of the heap only a couple of years back—now, with only green and inexperienced players, Bill Stinson's charges are taking the bumps. Best part of it is—it can't last.

It appears ill luck pointed a crooked finger at the Fords even before the season started and cackled "You're in it!" For Bud Arnold, Haverford's only experienced operative, suffered the recurrence of a leg injury even before the season opened. Just as that appeared healed, he picked up with a sprained hand.

"Think back some seasons ago, Lansdowne lost every game for so long that the Lords were marked for a miserable, thoroughly unenjoyable football season this year. Such seasons seem to run in cycles. The Fords were at the top of the heap only a couple of years back—now, with only green and inexperienced players, Bill Stinson's charges are taking the bumps. Best part of it is—it can't last."

Haverford could start the long and treacherous road back this Saturday when the Joads meet Lansdowne on the Lords' field. After that comes West Chester, and then—Upper Darby.

His play may not make the headlines, but Villanova's Bob Fitzmyer rates as one of the finest centers in collegiate 150-pound ranks this year.

The chunky line backer made a great hit with his outstanding play during the 1946 campaign. He was named the best center in the Eastern Intercollegiate 150-pound Football League, which includes Rutgers, Penn, Navy, Villanova, Cornell and Princeton.

Fitzmyer has shown improvement this fall. Coach Anderson and Tony Cocco of the Kittens say he's the best lineman they've seen in the eight-week football year.

Jordan Oliver, Villanova's head football coach, agrees with Anderson and Cocco. "If Fitzmyer weighed about 180 pounds he'd make the varsity squad. He's a great player," Oliver said.

A youngster who loves the game, Fitzmyer's heavy class schedule in civil engineering allows him to engage in only two drills a week. He's not a newcomer to the sport, however. Bob won All-Philadelphia center honors while playing with St. Joseph's Prep.

The Wildcats tied Rutgers at Princeton and beat Cornell last week.

MAIN LINE LEAGUE SHORT SHOTS

Manager Jiggs Torchiana, of Narberth, informs that he has added Charlie Barr, Ted Wehman and Joe Gallagher to his squad. Barr starred at Valley Forge Military Academy, Wehman played at Haverford and Gallagher was with St. Thomas More. Wehman, Harry Middleton, Harry DeSota, Jack Hart and Jack Robinson make up Narberth's starting lineup.

Brookline lost Walt Quay, West Chester Teachers College ace, when he fractured his ankle in an exhibition game with the Vets at the Arena. He'll be out for six weeks. The Brooks showed great promise in their two Arena exhibition contests. They defeated Har Zion, defending Jewish League champions, and the strong Chester Ukrainians by wide margins. The Lower Merion Veterans will take the floor with brand new uniforms. Featuring the Vets new garb will be maroon T-shirt style jerseys. Don Evans, 6-foot-three Lower Merion center, seems to have regained the form that won him All-State honors at Lower Merion High in 1943.

Oakmont Scores 3d Straight Over Llanerch, 27-0

Oakmont won its third straight game in the Haverford Township Grade School League by defeating Llanerch, 19 to 0, thus remaining unscathed upon for the 1947 season. Llanerch scored for Oakmont early in the first quarter on a 20-yard run around end. Jon Jensen made the extra point on a line plunge.

The second Oakmont score was registered in the second quarter following two long passes. The first to Schrader, was good for 20 yards. Another for 20 yards, Singer Bloum, accounted for the score. Oakmont scored again in the fourth period when Dave Bishop plunged over from the 12-yard line.

Oakmont, Brookline Gridders

Play 18th Game on Tuesday

The annual grade school grid clash between Oakmont and Brookline Schools will be played on the Haverford High field on Tuesday, November 11, with the kickoff at 2 P. M.

Each year since 1933, Oakmont has played one of its games on the high school field. This is the fifth game in a series with Brookline. If the weather is favorable, a crowd of 1500 is expected.

This is the 18th consecutive year that Brookline and Oakmont have met in football, and it will be the 26th game between the two schools. Oakmont players except David Bishop, fullback, are in sixth grade, whereas all but four of the Brookline players are fifth grade. Wes Hackman, Brookline captain and quarterback, played in the big game last year, as did two Oakmont backs, Jon Jensen and Capt. Freddy Schrader.

Each squad has more than 40 boys, all of whom expect to see action. Regular football rules are played, Brookline operating from a T formation, while Oakmont calls signals without a huddle and operates from a box shifting into a single wing.

Between the halves of the game the Oakmont School band of 39 and the drum majorette squad of 16 will parade. The band is especially noted for the fact that 16 of the football squad, including seven from the first team, take off their football helmets between the halves and pick up their instruments to "double in brass."

Villanova Ace Feted As 'Player of Week'

Bill Lillenthal, Villanova College tackle, was honored at the Maxwell Memorial Club's weekly luncheon at the Warwick Hotel on Monday, receiving the "college player of the week award."

Lillenthal, Army veteran of European combat, also is a member of the Wildcats team. He is rated among the East's outstanding football line and has shown consistently improved play for the Villanova team.

Richard Rhoades, Valley Forge Military halfback, was honored as the scholastic choice for "player of the week." He has starred for the unbeaten Cadets all season.

Al Schmid's Kicking Sparks Cat Gridders

The talented, booming of Half-back Al Schmid is proving a valuable factor in the play of Villanova's football team this season. Schmid currently holds third place among Eastern kickers with an average of 42 yards in 30 kicks. The Wildcats have the same rating in team punting with a 40.9 average on 42 boots in six games.

Al had to overcome a great physical handicap to gain a starting berth this fall. The Princeton, N. J., youth suffered a serious back injury in the 1946 opener and did not resume grid play until spring practice.

Merion Team Beaten In Women's Hockey

The Royals, defending champions, conquered Merion Cricket Club, 11-2, to remain tied for first place in the women's Philadelphia Field Hockey Association on Friday. Jackie Westervelt and Grace Pinnak each scored three goals for the victors.

Butera's goal gave Cynwyd a 1-0 triumph over Ursinus College Alumnae.

VETS PLAY ELKINS PARK; BROOKS, NARBERTH IN ACTION AS LOOP OPENS

By HARRY ELLSWORTH

With opening week ceremonies over, the eight combatants in the Main Line League basketball race get down to serious business this week. Games are listed for four nights next week, with all league members playing at least one contest.

Opening the seven-game slate, Wayne will visit Haverford High School to play Brookline and the defending champion Lower Merion Veterans will journey to Cheltenham High to meet Elkins Park.

On Tuesday night, Narberth, one of the mainstays of the 15-year-old semipro league, unveils its Green and Gold Warriors to the home fans at Bala-Cynwyd Junior High School. Jenkintown, operating for the first time in the league, will furnish the opposition.

On Wednesday night at Lower Merion High, Joey Fay brings his "Runnin' Firemen" down from Norristown. This is the feature game of the week, for Norristown with the DeWesse twins, Carmen Schavo, Harry Lebnitz and Mike Maggio from last year's Norristown High "Buzz Boys," is considered a definite threat to the Maroon's hopes of retaining the Main Line title.

Bobby Hackett, L. M. mentor, will probably use George Paine, Pink Manning, Bill Koehler, Moon tied Louis, and Bud Long as starters against the County Seaters.

Another Wednesday night stand out is the visit of Herb Good's Brookline five to Coatesville, Good, with Frank Brennan and John Byrne adding strength to an all-veteran cast, must stop Don Markward and Joe Gillingier, the Steelers' high scoring duo. With Bill Zeiss and Charlie Gunther in the lineup, the visiting Green and White will have a slight height advantage. Two games on Thursday night close out the week's activities.

Jenkintown makes its second league start against Norristown in the Stewart Armory in Norristown. Jenkintown will probably start the same team that finished second in the Suburban sports writers' tournament last year: Paul Cutright, Joe Disher, Owen Regan, Bob Murphy and Tom Barry.

Narberth will journey to Wayne on Thursday night to play the Italian-Americans at Radnor High in the home opening for the Raiders. Wayne, coached by Tony Arena, lists a squad of former Radnor High School stars, headed by Jim Smith and the Roselli brothers, Al and Lou. Wayne will continue to feature a light-knit zone defense that has proved so excellent at Radnor High.
